NYCPMers Care for Runners at TCS New York City Marathon

NYCPM faculty and students have participated on the medical team at the New York City Marathon for well over 20 years. Volunteering as part of the medical team for sporting events such as the New York City Marathon, Boston Marathon, Hamptons Marathon, NYC Triathlon, Atlantic City Marathon, Central Park Marathon, New Jersey Marathon and many others, “is not only part of our curriculum, but part of our culture,” says Loretta Logan, DPM (‘89), Associate Professor and Chair, Department of Orthopedics and Pediatrics. “November 1st, 2015 was no different.” Four NYCPM DPMs along with 16 third-year students volunteered to assist the medical team in taking care of the TCS New York City Marathon runners who braved the course through the five boroughs of New York City.”
The following NYCPM DPMs and students volunteered as part of the medical team at the TCS NYC Marathon:

DPMs: Nicholas Argerakis, DPM, Sharon Barlizo, DPM, Danielle McNeil, DPM, Kristina Karlic, DPM.

Students: James Chung, Ammar Al Rubaiay, Victoria Vo, Sun Byun, Ashley Kim, Zachary Sax, Devora Moore, Ailani Ashutosh, Lloyd Tomlinson, Daphne Davis, Rachel Maslow, Kurtis Bertram, Joseph Schmidl, Marcin Romanczyk, Nathaniel Alabi, Asher Wiederkeh