First Annual M.O.S.S. Debuts at NYCPM

Andrea Premlall, DPM (a vendor for the company illustrated here) and Al Shehada, DPM ('09) at the first annual M.O.S.S. at NYCPM in June.

The Medicine, Ortho/Pediatrics, and Surgical Symposium (M.O.S.S.) in late June was the first that NYCPM has offered in the area of Continuing Medical Education. Eighty-five professionals attended the three-day symposium, which combined daily morning lectures in specialty academic tracks and relevant hands-on workshops in the afternoons that included ultrasound-guided injection, pediatric assessment, in-shoe pressure/gait analysis and cadaver-based surgical experiences, including ankle arthroscopy, lateral ankle stabilization/repair and a variety of forefoot procedures. A number of NYCPM faculty as well as invited specialists were the presenters, and vendors mounted displays.