At a pinning ceremony held recently at the New York College of Podiatric Medicine (NYCPM), five members of the Class of 2012 – Amarjit Chhatwal, Sari Goldman, Oendril Kamal, Lonny Nodelman, and Devin Poonai – were inducted into the Pi Delta National Podiatry Honor Society, Gamma Chapter. Khurram Khan, DPM, Assistant Professor of Podiatric Medicine, and Faculty Advisor to the Gamma Chapter, served as Master of Ceremonies, introducing Louis L. Levine, President and CEO of NYCPM, who spoke about how the future of the profession of podiatry depends upon people like the inductees. Michael J. Trepal, DPM, Vice President for Academic Affairs and Dean, congratulated the inductees, saying they had worked hard and consistently for this honor. Following his remarks, Dr. Trepal led the inductees in reciting the Oath. Lonny Nodelman, Pi Delta National Podiatry Honor Society President, offered closing remarks, thanking Dr. Khan for having put together an outstanding series of lectures during the year.
