

Privacy Statement for web site and e-mail use

The New York College of Podiatric Medicine respects the privacy of our web site visitors. The following statement spells out our privacy policy in more detail. This policy applies to www.nycpm.edu. If there are any material changes to this policy in the future, information concerning any such changes will be posted on this webpage.

We collect information of those who contact us via on-line application or e-mail communications. This information is used exclusively for our internal purposes unless otherwise noted. This information is not disclosed to any non-affiliated third-parties.

Personal information is only collected when voluntarily offered for the sole purposes identified.

We do not place “cookies”, or pieces of electronic information for any reason.

The privacy of communication over the Internet (e-mail) cannot be guaranteed, because the Internet may not be a secure medium. The New York College of Podiatric Medicine does not assume any responsibility for any harm, loss, or damage you may experience or incur by sending of personal, confidential, or other information over the Internet by or to this institution.

By using this site or e-mail, you signify your consent to this institution’s on-line privacy policy. If you do not agree with this policy, please do not use this site. We reserve the right, at our discretion, to update, change, modify, add, or remove portions of this policy from time to time.