

Ellen Lubell Communications Manager

Ellen Lubell has been Communications Manager at NYCPM since April 2014. She has been a communications professional throughout her entire career, which has included journalism as well as editing, writing, and public relations with both for- and non-profit organizations. For over ten years prior to joining NYCPM, she was Director of Public Relations for The Children's Aid Society, a 150-year-old organization dedicated to helping children in need. Ellen is also well known as an editor and writer in the visual arts.

At the College and Foot Center of New York, Ellen writes and edits the monthly newsletter, Footprints; works with Dr. Eunice Ramsey-Parker on her monthly column in the Harlem Community News; publicizes the College and Foot Center at every opportunity; supervises advertising and marketing; and edits and writes a wide variety of materials for both NYCPM and FCNY. Ellen reports to Desander Más, VP of Operations and Development.
