

Presentations by NYCPM Faculty Highlight Superbones/Superwounds Spring Weekend

NYCPM presenters included Drs. Anthony Jabra, Jeffrey Cusack and Joseph D'Amico

During the latest Superbones/Superwounds Spring weekend of seminars on April 15 and 16 at the Teaneck Marriott at Glenpointe in Teaneck, NJ, a number of NYCPM faculty presented on a variety of relevant topics. Samantha Landau, DPM ('18), MPH presented two seminars:

"Anatomic Variants and Effect on Foot Function: The Accessory Navicular" as well as "Pediatric Orthosis: New Preliminary Data and What Do We Really Know About the Current Evidence?" Samuel Adegboyega, DPM ('06), also offered two seminars: "The Use of Selective Plantar Fascia Release (SPFR) for DFU," and "Anterior Tarsal Tunnel Syndrome." Anthony Jabra, DPM ('16), presented "First Metatarsal Phalangeal Joint Fusion for Management of Hallux Valgus Deformity." Joseph D'Amico, DPM, FACFAS, offered "Considerations in the Prescription of Sport Specific Foot Orthoses," discussing the individual biomechanics and specific needs called for in specific sports, Reem Sheikh, DPM, discussed "Achilles Tendon Trauma," while Jeffrey Cusack, DPM ('81), offered "Putting It All Together: The Latest Pieces of the Gait Puzzle."

Anthony Iorio, DPM ('81), MPH filled in for other presenters whose flights were cancelled due to bad weather in Florida. He served as the host and moderator for four sessions. Those lecturers who could not attend had contributed pre-recorded lectures. "It appeared that the scheduled lecturer was there, though in reality was stuck in south Florida," Dr. Iorio said.

NYCPM partnered with PRESENT e-Learning Systems for this conference.
