

NYCPM Joins Touro for Day of 'Healthy Aging'

On Tuesday April 18, NYCPM participated in “Healthy Aging: An Educational Day for Seniors,” sponsored by Adrienne E. Adams, Speaker of the New York City Council and by Touro University. The full-day program, based in the Rochdale Village Ballroom in Jamaica, Queens, began with remarks by Speaker Adams as well as by Touro Provost Patricia Salkin, JD, Senior VP of Academic Affairs, and Rabbi Moshe Krupka, MS, Executive VP of Touro University and chief liaison for community affairs.

NYCPM’s Professor and Chair, Department of Orthopedics and Pediatrics Loretta Logan, DPM ('89), MPH and FCNY/Clinic Administrator Eunice Ramsey-Parker, DPM ('85), MPH gave a presentation about issues of aging feet and ankles, and headed the NYCPM team of five students -- Andrew Kempadoo Umadat (2024), Nneamaka Oliver (2023), Jasmine Christie Reid (2023), John Harris (2024), and Iain Guy (2024) -- that provided podiatric services including foot screenings and distribution of information to the seniors who filled the ballroom.

Michael J. Trepal, DPM ('81), VP of Academic Affairs and Dean, said “It is our hope to participate in other such events on an ongoing basis.”
