

Trustee Dr. Reilly Fallon Supports Graduation, Galway and More

Trustee Kathleen Reilly Fallon, DPM (1994) has generously made a number of donations that will help graduation proceed more smoothly and enjoyably for the graduates and friends and family. She has secured a singer to sing the national anthem at graduation, as well as the organist, and will sponsor the music at the ceremony. She will also donate individually wrapped cookies for all of the graduates that they can enjoy on that day. She has also sponsored the music at the forthcoming NYCPM White Coat Ceremony in August at the New York Academy of Medicine.

Dr. Fallon has also donated to the National University of Ireland Galway to aid in funding scholarships for the school's podiatry students. She has committed to donating $1,000 each year to the department. She is a Bronze sponsor of the 5th Transatlantic Wound Sciences & Podiatric Medicine-All Ireland Podiatry Conference, April 28 – 30 at the university, which several NYCPM faculty attended. Dr. Fallon helped connect the podiatry departments at Galway and NYCPM to foster an exchange program of students between the two schools that has continued for 11 years.
